Tips for parents

OUR ACADEMIC THEME

This November, our kids learn about the seasons! Learning about the seasons helps them understand the passage of time and teaches them about change. They are constantly exposed to the changes that come with the seasons so we will use what they already know to enhance their lessons in the classroom. We will also incorporate specific activities, food and even fashion to come with the seasons!

Meet those who make the magic happen at Sunshine House!

TEACHER STU & EXCITING ENGLISH

As soon as our children see teacher Stu, their faces break into smiles. He injects joy and delight when he teaches our little ones English. They join him in engaging activities and at the same time generate the language we want them to learn and produce. To our little ones, he can be Teacher Banana or Teacher Baby or whatever funny name they come up with together!

Teacher Stu is a Literature and Film major from Bolton Institute in the UK. He also holds a CELTA certificate and is currently completing his Certificate in Early Childhood Care and Education Teachers Training. Teacher Stu is the newest member of the Sunshine House family of teachers but the children have accepted and learned to appreciate and love his easy style and smooth way of imparting knowledge.

A young boy with dark hair, wearing a bright green polo shirt with a 'Sunshine' logo, is hanging from a set of wooden monkey bars. He is smiling and looking down. In the background, other children and adults are visible, some wearing similar green shirts. The setting is an outdoor playground with green grass and trees.

GRANNY CHING'S PARENTS TIPS:

Parents: Our child is a picky eater or sometimes doesn't even want to eat at all! What can we do?

Parents: Our child is a picky eater or sometimes doesn't even want to eat at all! What can we do?

Granny Ching: Try asking for their help in preparing the food with you when you do. Make them chop some vegetables (with a plastic knife of course), pour in ingredients into the pot, stir or mix the food, even operate some kitchen equipment with your guidance and decide on the taste of what they've cooked. During the meal, you can also encourage them to serve mommy and daddy and their siblings and finally to sit down and sample what they made!
