ACADEMIC THEME

TRANSPORTATION

Whether they be toy cars/ trucks or the real things, our kids just love them! We are on the move with the different modes of transportation and the various types of terrains. It's going to be another fun-filled and informative month especially because of how children feel about "Lighting McQueen!" – but we are not just focusing on cars but all kinds of transportation!

TEACHER NADIIA AND EXHILARATING ENGLISH AND PE!

Our teacher responsible for teaching English to all the Integrated levels and Physical Education for the international classes is none other than our bubbly Teacher Nadiia! She brings more bounce in the jumps and joy in the leaps at PE and laughter in the English lessons!

One of the younger teachers but obviously the tallest in the school, T. Nadiia joined us at the beginning of this school year and she continues to be as sweet and affectionate to all the kids – not just her Nursery homeroom class as she was at the beginning.

Teacher Nadiia is from Ukraine. She taught English in China for three years before moving to Vietnam. She has a TEFL and she is a major in Tourism. Her experiences with little children have taught her how to understand, love and appreciate them more.

SIMPLE TIPS FOR PARENTS!

GRANNY CHING

GOING WITH OUR THEE THIS MONTH - CARS, TRUCKS, SHIPS PLANES - TOYS!

- Provide plenty of toys to sustain their interest and give them the opportunity to use their imagination. Children's writer Harriet Castor says that's a crucial skill to develop for adulthood because it's a way of dealing with the complexities of daily life.
- Don't dictate what your children do when playing. "Parents should play alongside their children, letting them take the lead," says play expert Prof Goldstein. "You can't dictate how a child plays, or impose a set of objectives on the process. Play works because it is fun, and not structured. It's different from other aspects of life."
- Don't plan play. Instead, do plan playdates! Let play happen organically and you'll find it's a much better experience for everyone!
